Holy Mount Kailash Mansarovar Darshan Tour Overview

Meals, transport and equipment for the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra

Join the Holy Mt. Kailash Mansarovar Darshan Tour with Earthbound Expeditions from Nepal

This pilgrimage takes you to Mount Kailash and Lake Mansarovar, two sacred sites for followers of Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism and the Bon religion. Earthbound Expeditions has been taking people to Kailash Mansarovar since 1999.

Earthbound Expeditions has designed this 15-day itinerary, which starts in Kathmandu with darshan at Pashupatinath and continues to Humla, Simikot, Limi and Lapcha to see Kailash Mansarovar, using a combination of trekking, flights and overland travel along an ancient pilgrimage route to Kailash Mansarovar. You can also travel entirely overland, or via Simikot, Humla (west Nepal), using a helicopter and fixed-wing aircraft.
Mount Kailash (6,638 m), known to Hindus as Kailash Parvat, is the most sacred mountain in Asia. Hindus believe that Kailash Parvat is the abode of Lord Shiva, which is why he is known as Kailashpati Mahadev. The peak is also sacred to Buddhists, Jains and followers of Bon.
Lake Mansarovar lies on the Tibetan plateau beside Mount Kailash and is connected to nearby Lake Rakshastal by the natural Ganga Chhu channel. Its colour changes through the day. Darshan of Kailash and Lake Mansarovar is believed to bring salvation (moksha) and to remove all the sins acquired during a lifetime.
